

Managed EDI Service for Microsoft Dynamics NAV

The EDI Imperative

Suppliers today have a choice—implement best-in-class Electronic Data Interchange (EDI), or pay the price. Without top-notch EDI, scorecards suffer, chargebacks hurt profitability, and adding trading partners is a nightmare. Where do you turn if you are driven to be the best supplier, but have no desire to be an EDI expert? Traditional software doesn't cut it—it's outdated the moment it is installed, if it works at all. And who has the resources to hire, train, and retain a staff dedicated to EDI?

Complexity Made Simple

Fortunately, there is a better way. RedTail Solutions offers EDI with no capital investment and low, pay-per-use fees. RedTail's Managed EDI Service includes not only the latest technology, but also experts who handle the arcane details of EDI for you. With a single, seamless interface for all trading partners, EDI transactions are linked to your accounting system with no manual translation or data entry. Everything you need is delivered without buying software and hardware or adding staff. With RedTail, you gain the benefits of first-rate EDI and skip the traditional overhead.

EDI is a Process, not a Package

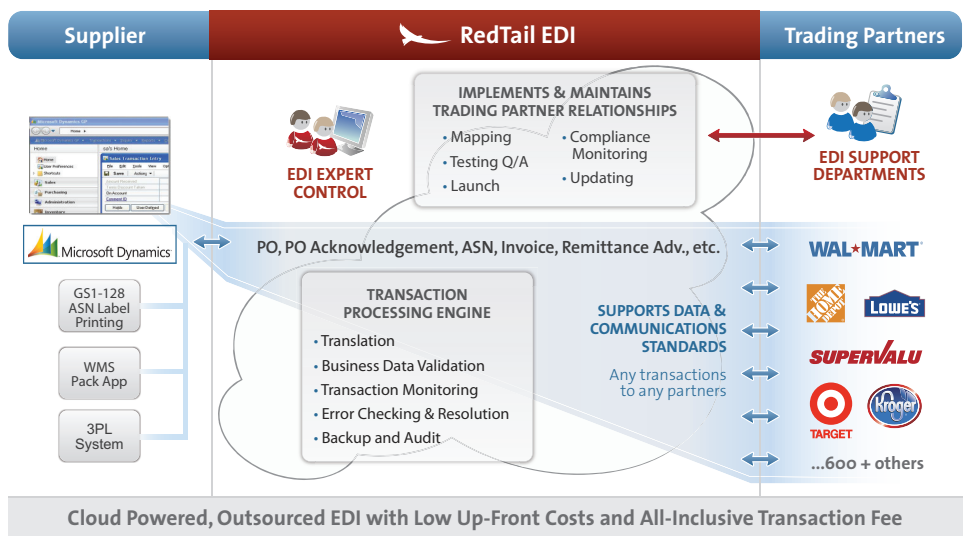

RedTail takes responsibility for your EDI success—every transaction, with every trading partner, every day—beginning with setup and testing of your trading relationships. RedTail powers transaction processing with secure, fault-tolerant datacenters that host all translation and mapping software, hardware and network infrastructure. Transactions are monitored constantly so that problems are corrected before they become critical. Best of all, everything is managed, maintained and supported by RedTail's experienced EDI team.

RedTail Manages EDI—You Grow Your Business

With thousands of trading partners and suppliers already on board, we've got the know-how to provide comprehensive EDI services fast, and for far less than you ever thought possible. Global Data Synchronization (GDS)—delivered as a managed service with RedTail's unmatched reliability and expertise—is also available to enhance your company's electronic commerce success.

"Sales signed a new customer, a leading retailer. We were happy until they told us about the requirement to conduct business via EDI and GDS. We had to be up and running in 6 weeks. RedTail Solutions met that requirement for us with weeks to spare."
